

What an opening!

You can usually tell from the first chapter of a book, if it's one you want to read.

Take a look at the first chapter of a story.

What questions does it give you? Why does it make you want to read more? Write about it.